it the one to market showed considerable making and advancing within moderate limits, but the one to market showed considerable and the last prices were about the same as ladio of yesterday. Against the market to day there was the disappointing news from Liverpool, local selling, some selling on Continental orders, and the deap market alent among some operators that the tovernment report would bear an interpretation favorable to the advocates of lower prices, linamuch as the acrosp to the coming season is given by Statistician Robinson at 20,184,000 acres, or practically the same as in 1891, when a crop was raised of 9,035,000 bales. The answer to this, however to that the acreage in this year was greatly underestimated by the Government, just as if was for the last season, when the tovernment begin with an estimate in May, 1894, of only 10,855,000 acres, and afterward raised it to 23,687,000 acres, some think the burean figures of yesterday indicate a crop of not over 7,500,000 bales. The afternoon the market was stronger on local covering, mainly due to a report that Nelli Bros. will issue a builds circular in a day or two. The undertone of the market seemed to be firm, in spite of the momentary narrowness of the speculation.
